Carl's Dye-a-logue

Back when I was a child, we would sing a song that said:
Oh be careful little eyes what you see,
Oh be careful little eyes what you see,
For the Father up above is looking down in love;
So be careful little eyes what you see.

The song then talked about "feet where you go" and "mouth what you say" and "hands what you do." It was designed to teach little kids to think about everything they do, because God is watching...not in a "big bully in the sky" way, but He is "looking down in love."

If this song has been forgotten in favor of more contemporary songs, I think it needs to be revived. The same four verses could be sung, but we maybe should add a couple of verses as well.

One additional verse might be: "Oh be careful little fingers what you type." (Yes, I know the fingers are part of the hands.) Most of my friends on Facebook are Christians...but you might not even suspect it from some of the things they post.

They "like" questionable websites or status updates from others. They call other people (who were made in God's image, even if the other person denies the existence of God) names. They use language that takes the name of God in vain (FYI "vain" can be defined as "empty of substance" or "meaningless")...this includes euphemisms (i.e. "OMG" and the like).

The same can be said about our language (see "Oh be careful little mouth what you say"). "Lordy, Lordy" and "My God" are often heard...even from the mouths of Christians...with no intention of addressing Jesus or God.

Some of you might even now be thinking, "Well, preacher, its just an expression. I really don't mean anything by it!" Which is exactly my point. Again vain can mean "empty of substance" or "meaningless." If you don't mean anything by it, then you are using God's name in a meaningless way.

I guess what I'm saying is to be careful of anything you chose to involve yourself in (in word or deed)...because "The Father up above is looking down in love."

In Memory of Imogene By Wilma Webb

*We've lost a lovely flower in Our flower garden of God.
She was a lovely yellow rose as
On this earth she trod.*

*A rose with glistening dew on each petal as through her life she went.
Her voice barely a whisper, you had to listen close, but it was worth the time you spent.*

*If you didn't spend time with her it truly was your loss.
Now this rose is in Heaven's Garden. She doesn't need a voice.*

*She's walking through the roses,
Orchids, Morning Glory's clinging vine.
With a beautiful black cat and three little dogs tagging along behind.*

Prayer List
